OBSERVATIONS

Internal audit of Teaching Learning Process (TLP) was conducted on 5th September 2022 and the following overall observations were made during all reviewers/ HoDs meet scheduled on 9-9-2022.

1. Need to elevate the ownership and importance of maintaining TLP related documents in more systematic way and possibly bringing uniformity across all departments.
2. Need to know the approach to evaluate quality of assignments and TLP work by reviewers belonging to other departments. Department level IQAC should coordinate and help external reviewers in this regard.
3. MIS should include features of getting attainment of outcomes for project and laboratory courses in straight forward way rather doing it indirectly.
4. Attendance book has several redundant information and needs to be removed to avoid unnecessary duplicate entry work.
5. Need to publish best TLP practices (in the booklet form) of all departments at Institute level and possibly followed by presentation by all departments on one best TLP process as a part of SHARE and CARE principles across the department. This may help juniors to know and therefore get mentoring from seniors as a routine process.

- 6. IQAC of the department to be more focused in evaluation of the quality and document verification and also maintaining records. IQAC should enforce all standards starting from semester kick off meeting to semester exit meeting covering all aspects from COURSE PLAN to attainment of outcomes and therefore actions. It should focus more on quality of CTA assignments leading to experiential learning suggested by NEP-2020 education policy.
- 7. Class committee comprising of student's representatives to be made very strong and therefore students view on regular TLP to be collected and report is to be sent regularly to IQAC at the Institution level. Institution level external members may be involved in class committee meeting of all departments.
- 8. Needs micro level work of maintaining attendance and other records in few cases.
- 9. Detailed reports of all departments are enclosed with this.
